JUDGE WOOLSEY'S CHAMBERS
2204 UNITED STATES COURT HOUSE
NEW YORK

January 25, 1939

The Owl Shop, Tobacconists,
New Haven,
Connecticut

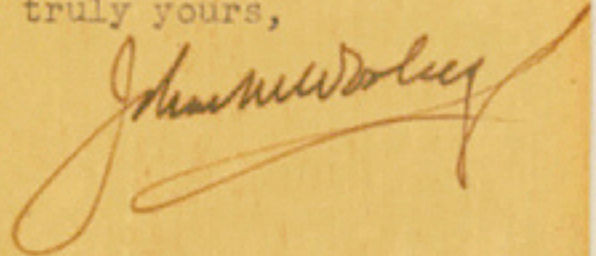

Gentlemen:

My son, John M. Woolsey, Jr., now at the Yale Law School, was good enough to give me a little package of your Harkness Tower tobacco. I thought it was extraordinarily good and I was wondering if you would let me know whether you have it ^{also} in half pound tins or in pound tins, and what the price of each size is.

Also let me know how I could arrange to have an account with you so that when I wanted to order any tobacco I could do so.

By way of credentials, I might say that I am one of the Associate Fellows of Branford College, and a member of the Yale Class of 1898.

Very truly yours,

CHAMBERS OF
JOHN M. WOOLSEY
